“ I remember learning to curl 20 years ago with Curtis skipping. He watched me throw and push a rock towards the broom. He came barreling down the ice and told me to point my foot in the hack towards the broom, that the rock would have no choice but to follow. The light bulb went on and the rocks have mostly hit the broom since. Thanks for making curling easy and fun Curtis, I will miss your banter!

Always had fun curling with him and then against him. I curled on his parent's team and on one night, every shot he set up for the team, I took it out. I also did a triple take out on him that night. He took his broom and just chucked it (all in fun). Hey, I had curled with him numerous times so I must have learnt something from him. It was a fun night. RIP Curtis.*
