“ Deepest Sympathies to Helen and family. Helen and Don were wonderful customers of ours back in the Fiesta Restaurant days and later carried their patronage into James Street Eatery as well. I often went up to their vehicle in their later years to say hello as they parked and ate inside of it in the parking lot of McDonalds when they could no longer venture inside of local restaurants, or their kitchen was under prolonged renovations leaving them without a stove to cook. Although I think they would of chose to dine out anyway.lol They enjoyed eating out and we were grateful to be blessed and graced with their presence. My heart goes out to each of you and I must mention the video tribute touched my heart showing his life on the farm , as I can't say I knew him unless he had a plate of food with fork and knife in hand , not children, horses, chickens and tractors. I thought of them each time I drove down the baseline these past many years as it seemed life on the farm slowed down and appeared so quiet, indeed it did so now R. I. P Don. Blessings full of cherished memories he left behind. Synthia Trembley

“ Both Mj and I were so lucky to have crossed paths the way we did with the Ardis' back 8 years or so ago. Little road trips, fast highway trips with Helen's eyes closed, crop tours, markets, Sloans, and many many more great times with the family. Poor Don would get laughing so hard at our shenanigans.

To Helen, Scott, Donna and families we are so very sorry for your loss and we are here for anything any of you need. Rest easy Don you'll be missed.
