“ When we look at his face, his smile, kind eyes, his unique style, eager to do for others. We all go back a long, long way; husband, father, friend, and brother in-law; he tried, he tried real hard, to be. We are all trying to make sense of it all. Our grief is in what we thought we had. We will cherish what was good. " It is what it is" . Rest in peace.

“ I remember so well when I was married to Roberts Uncle Gerry, what a sweet and kind young man he was. I always had a special place in my heart for him. I know he's with the angels now, and his suffering is done.
